A spiritual history of Earth By Esther Philips-Sweet It is sometimes hard to imagine in our times how history can be written other than as a history of the senses. There are clues in the work of theoretical physicists that our reality is not as fixed as we would like it to be, but it is hard to think these notions through, because the images are way beyond our comprehension. Rudolf Steiner was a person who dared to do so. He had a phenomenal knowledge of Eastern and Western esoterism and was himself a scientist. If you dare to read this book, you will have to go against most of the things you read about human history. But this is a history not only of the human body, but also a history of his soul and spirit. He doesn't ask that you believe him, but he invites you to think with him outside the boundaries of everyday beliefs. It will give you a new insight into what makes us human. It will give you an insight into your Self.

Animals are devolutions of humankind's past evolutionary forms. Yahweh lives on the moon. The sun and moon and earth used to be one enormous body-mass. We WERE the ancient Egyptians. There once was a form of reproduction other than the physical. Socrates had telepathic teaching powers. Egyptians practiced mummification so the WE would take interest in the physical world: Natural science is born. The Argonauts were an historical reality. Ancient Atlanteans travelled outside their bodies when they slept much in the same way we do when we die. Zoroastrianism will replace Christianity. Ancient Clairvoyants created the modern human-form by looking at their future selves and willing their physical bodies to morph into that. Brahman was Hercules was Christ. We, in our former evolutionary selves, used to be unisexual centaurs with glowing pancreatic glands strutting out of our foreheads like lanterns which allowed us to communicate with the god-creatures who lived on the sun. And we didn't know how to breath either. There used to be four gender types. Now there are only two(male and female, duh). Homer was a clairvoyant who could see the mysterious akashic record. We evolved from sphinx's. And yes they were real. Gods incarnated in greek temples. INCARNATED. The romans were the FIRST to regard the individual as an actual THING. The Mongolians are the most direct descendents of Atlantis. The gall is the physical expression of the astral body. Whatever that means. Midday woman = Sphinx. Medicine works because we were once mineral/plant-like beings. WHHHHAAAATTTTTTTTTT?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?!?! I thought this was going to be about conventional Egyptian mythology. Best read of my life! This guy is crazy and awesome and far-out and and and. I would give it one star for being too much of a load whatever its a load of(I can't tell). But its just too good.

The parts about how man saw his spiritual nature, and the spiritual world in the beginnings of the planet were very interesting, how humans developed from a water planet and animal forms were also new to me. This book talks a lot about evolving life on the planet from spiritual to material and back to spiritual again. If you are interested in things of otherworldly vision and history of earth's evolution you will like this book.

Rudolf Steiner emphasizes the astonishing and special relationship between our own time and that of ancient Egypt, in the natural rhythm of the ages, the so-called third post-Atlantian (Egyptian) epoch is mirrored by the fifth (present) epoch. In this sense, today it is especially relevant to look at ancient Egypt with fresh eyes. The evolution of Western civilization has been profoundly influenced by Egyptian myths through the Greek mysteries. Because of other influences, however, this heritage has degenerated; thinking has mummified and myth has all but disappeared. Consequently, it is important to revive the seed of goodness passed down to us from ancient Egypt. Through true imagination, it is our task to renew human knowledge related to the creative forces in nature, which the Egyptians attempted through the Osiris-Isis myth, and the Greeks through the myth of Demeter. This is what Rudolf Steiner attempts in this lecture cycle. Steiner's subjects include: experiences of Egyptian initiations; esoteric anatomy and physiology; the stages of evolution of the human form; and much more. The final lecture is on the Christ impulse as the conqueror of matter.

About the Author Rudolf Steiner (1861-1925) was born in the small village of Kraljevec, Austro-Hungarian Empire (now in Croatia), where he grew up. As a young man, he lived in Weimar and Berlin, where he became a well-published scientific, literary, and philosophical scholar, known especially for his work with Goethe's scientific writings. At the beginning of the twentieth century, he began to develop his early philosophical principles into an approach to systematic research into psychological and spiritual phenomena. Formally beginning his spiritual teaching career under the auspices of the Theosophical Society, Steiner came to use the term Anthroposophy (and spiritual science) for his philosophy, spiritual research, and findings. The influence of Steiner's multifaceted genius has led to innovative and holistic approaches in medicine, various therapies, philosophy, religious renewal, Waldorf education, education for special needs, threefold economics, biodynamic agriculture, Goethean science, architecture, and the arts of drama, speech, and eurythmy. In 1924, Rudolf Steiner founded the General Anthroposophical Society, which today has branches throughout the world. He died in Dornach, Switzerland.
