Barbara J. MacHaffie : Her Story: Women in Christian Tradition (2nd Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Her Story: Women in Christian Tradition (2nd Edition):

Her Story: Women in Christian Tradition (2nd Edition)By RobsyI got this book for a class, and while it is interesting, it has so many details it can be hard to follow sometimes. It is nice to know more about women in the Christian religion and see how their roles have changes over the years depending on what is happening socially at the time. Over all a good book, even has examples of writings at the end of each chapter of some of the people written about.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Sangyeop HanIt is An especially good book in new condition!

An accessible, introductory text first published by Fortress Press in 1983, Her Story: Women in Christian History has sold over 30,000 copies of the first edition and has ably helped readers recover the oft-ignored or submerged stories of women in the Christian tradition, from biblical times to now. Barbara MacHaffie, who wrote the brief history and compiled a lively anthology of companion primary readings, has revised and updated the text and readings. In this new edition, history and primary readings are combined and augmented with helpful pedagogical tools. This new textbook, which offers sympathetic coverage of all Christian traditions, is supported by a dedicated companion Web site that includes chapter summaries, questions for discussion and Web links that vividly bring the stories of women to life in portraits, artifacts, and other primary materials.

"A fast-paced, readable introduction to the status of women in Christian history." "An excellent work which distills much of scholarship on women and Christianity...in a text which is popular and readable...." -- Carolyn DeSwarte Gifford "N/A" From the Publisher
Endorsements: "A fast-paced, readable introduction to the status of women in Christian history." Robert T. Handy, Emeritus, Union Theological Seminary "The best collection of primary texts about women in Christianity available." Betty A. DeBerg, University of Northern Iowa
